

POLICY STATEMENT

RAVAS develops, manufactures, distributes, and services mobile weighing solutions with the aim of optimising our customers' supply chains.

RAVAS recognises the need to develop and promote a quality, safety, health, and environmental policy. The purpose of this policy is to create a framework for colleagues to bring quality and safety at work to the desired level and maintain it. The key points are customer focus, prevention of personal injury, prevention of material and environmental damage and striving for continuous improvement in the areas of quality, safety, health, welfare, and the environment.

RAVAS is a renowned company. The success is not only widespread in Europe, but a growing number of customers are also being served in North America. Customers prefer to work with RAVAS because of our expertise, wide product range, extensive customisation possibilities, good quality of services and sustainable and reliable solutions.

Satisfying our customers remains of utmost importance. Quality, reliability, safety, and durability are of paramount importance. It goes without saying that the applicable laws and regulations will be complied with at all times within our services.

In order to maintain our good market position, RAVAS is constantly looking for improvements in the areas of quality, safety, health, welfare, and the environment. Working according to ISO 9001, ISO 14001 and ISO 45001 is an aid to embedding the process of seeking and implementing improvements within the organisation.

We hold everyone in the organisation responsible for achieving our goals: every employee must carry out the work within his area of responsibility in accordance with the established procedures and must also continually look for possible improvements. The organisation shall provide personal protective equipment for work in which health or safety is endangered. All employees are required to use these resources in accordance with the applicable regulations. In the unlikely event of an accident, RAVAS has a policy of providing adapted work after an accident with the aim of limiting absenteeism and promoting recovery.

Finally, management hereby declares that the QHSE coordinator has the responsibility and authority to:

1. ensure that processes necessary for the management system are established, implemented, and maintained;
2. report to management on the performance of the management system and any need for improvement;
3. ensure the promotion of awareness of customer requirements throughout the organisation.

The executive board has set itself the task of assessing this policy every 3 years and adjusting it where necessary. The colleagues of RAVAS will be actively involved in the interpretation and implementation of the quality, safety, health, and environmental policy. Through structured and open cooperation, we want to achieve the set objectives together.
